The FIBA Foundation exists because we, like many others, believe that sport holds the power to change lives for the better. Reaching into communities across the globe, it transcends boundaries, brings people together and can have a profound impact on society.

This is especially true of basketball. A team sport that unites people from all social and cultural backgrounds, its globality and diversity give us an incredible platform to educate and empower individuals and communities worldwide.

As the social and legacy arm of FIBA, our work is dedicated to bringing this vision to life, and we do so through a focus on two strategic pillars – Basketball for Good and Cultural Heritage. This report will focus on our Basketball for Good work, where over the last seven years we have worked tirelessly to grow the global basketball family and to equip them to become changemakers in their own communities.

As we reflect on 2023 we can see that our work is truly coming to life – with an ever-growing network of young people and practitioners collaborating across the globe to embed change across societies and communities.

Through our three core Basketball For Good programs – Mini Basketball, Youth Leadership, and Community Impact - we have delivered more educational initiatives, supported more grassroots programs, and engaged and inspired more young people than ever before.

2023 was the first of our four year FIBA Foundation strategy, and while we have seen tremendous growth already, we have ambitious goals to deliver by 2027. These can only be achieved through the tireless energy and commitment of our team, and our supporters. On behalf of FIBA, we would like to express our sincere thanks to our partners whose invaluable support is vital in helping make our vision a reality. And of course, we extend heartfelt gratitude to our Foundation colleagues, and the National Federations, partner organizations and community projects that work so hard to bring Basketball For Good to life on the ground.

Together, we are pushing basketball to new heights and changing lives for the better around the globe. Thank you for reading our 2023 report and sharing our journey. Alone we can only do so much, but collectively we can go so much further.

WHO WE ARE

FIBA FOUNDATION

We believe basketball has the power to change lives.

The FIBA Foundation is the social and legacy arm of FIBA, using the power of basketball to initiate positive social change, and acting as the global custodian of basketball's Cultural Heritage.

As a sport that extends across the globe, we believe that basketball can bring diverse communities together, transcend barriers, and create change and hope in parts of the world where it's needed the most.

Our Two Strategic Pillars are:

BASKETBALL FOR GOOD

We deliver youth engagement programs that promote education, health and well-being, and fight injustice and inequality through basketball.

BASKETBALL CULTURAL HERITAGE

We act as the custodian of the Patrick Baumann House of Basketball as a place for the sport's history, memorabilia, and cultural heritage, as well as a place to shape its future.

This report will focus specifically on the impact of our Basketball For Good programs, and the young people, coaches, and organizations that we support. We are continuously inspired by their dedication and ambition, and we hope you are too.

“

The FIBA Foundation commitment to development through sport is unmatched. The tremendous work they are carrying out is impacting communities all around the world.

BASKETBALL FOR GOOD

OUR PURPOSE

We believe that basketball can empower young people, increase awareness of social issues, and build healthy and resilient communities around the world.

OUR CHALLENGE

However, we also know that there are challenges to be faced in achieving these benefits.

COMMUNITY

- The environment to participate in programs is not always safe, inclusive, and accessible.
- There can be limited opportunities for young people to be leaders in their communities, limited financial and human resources, and limited opportunities to play basketball.
- There is a need to develop the workforce through capacity building activities for coaches, administrators, and officials.

KNOWLEDGE

- In some areas the potential of basketball as a tool for development has been under developed due to lack of awareness and knowledge.

THAT'S WHY WE CREATED BASKETBALL FOR GOOD

Launched in 2016, our Basketball For Good pillar delivers youth engagement programs, training, and capacity building initiatives that promote education, health and well-being, and fight injustice and inequality through basketball.

We achieve this through three programs:

Our impact is carefully tracked through robust monitoring and evaluation and contributes towards the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). We believe sport and particularly basketball can play an integral role in helping to achieve them, and we have a particular focus on:

BASKETBALL FOR GOOD

Our programs are designed to build awareness of using basketball as a tool for social development and contribute towards the development of a wider Basketball For Good community.

OUR PROGRAMS

Giving young people the skills and opportunities to create a brighter future for themselves and their communities.

We empower Youth Leaders through training and education, providing them with the skills and confidence to effectively implement Basketball For Good projects in their respective communities, and become ambassadors for future projects.

Improving the health and well-being of 5-12 year old children by tackling physical inactivity.

We support our partners to run events and community basketball programs using play based learning to grow the basketball community, while encouraging healthier lifestyles and promoting Basketball For Good values to leave a legacy in the community.

Working with individual projects and communities to address relevant social issues such as health, education, equality, conflict resolution and the environment.

Our Community Impact programs build the capacity and sustainability of Basketball For Good people and programs by providing funding, education, equipment, mentoring and training.

OUR SUPPORTERS

Every team needs its supporters, and Basketball For Good is no exception. Our work is powered forward by the backing of a range of incredible brands and institutions, and our thanks goes out to you all. Only by working together is any of this possible.

2023 – AT A GLANCE

Basketball is a truly global game, with the potential to empower young people and strengthen communities across the world. In 2023 we were proud to have an impact in 100 countries across 5 continents.

Countries positively impacted by Basketball for Good in 2023

YOUTH LEADERSHIP

The FIBA Foundation's Youth Leadership program is a global initiative offering young, engaged people the opportunity to gain additional leadership skills and the knowledge to develop Basketball For Good projects in their own communities.

Youth Leaders are nominated by their National Federations and typically take part in a program encompassing four key stages:

-  Virtual Tip Off Sessions - An opportunity to meet fellow youth leaders in their region and develop a greater understanding of the role basketball can play in positive social change.
-  In Person Workshop - Three to five day workshop combining theoretical sessions with hands on Basketball For Good experience.
-  Virtual Mentoring - Mentoring sessions to help develop and guide the delivery of a Basketball For Good project in their own community.
-  Alumni Network - Alumni join the global community of FIBA Foundation Youth Leaders, with ongoing additional opportunities for exchange and engagement.

OUR IMPACT PATHWAY

SHORT TERM

Youth Leaders have an increased understanding of their role in the community, Basketball For Good, and the UN SDGs.

They feel motivated and empowered to take on leadership roles.

MEDIUM TERM

Youth leaders have increased leadership skills, confidence, and motivation to lead Basketball For Good programs. Their practical experience of programs increases, alongside an understanding of how they can address issues in their communities.

They learn about other cultures and build a diverse network.

Connections are developed between Youth Leaders and wider stakeholders.

LONG TERM

Youth Leaders run Basketball For Good programs to address issues in their local communities.

They use the skills and knowledge learned in their own personal and professional lives.

They work collaboratively with National Federations and wider stakeholders.

IMPACT

Youth Leaders lead the action in their local communities to contribute towards the UN SDGs through Basketball For Good Programs.

Youth Leaders are global ambassadors of Basketball For Good and mentor other Youth Leaders.

Being a Youth Leader for me means trying your best to set a good example to kids in your community and encouraging them to dream big. It means helping the youth develop a mindset that will allow them to overcome challenges and barriers for themselves, their family, friends and their community.

Martin Raphael Gregorio, 2023 Youth Leader, Philippines

YOUTH LEADERSHIP

2023 was a year of many milestones, with Youth Leadership programs delivered across all five continental regions for the first time, and in person programming returning again post Covid.

AFRICA

WORKSHOP: WINDHOEK, NAMIBIA 24 YOUTH LEADERS FROM 11 COUNTRIES

After a virtual tip off session, Youth Leaders from across southern Africa attended a three day workshop in February 2023, delivered in collaboration with ImpactTank and Basketball Artists School Foundation. Sessions included leadership and communication, social entrepreneurship, and project management, and culminated in the design of their own Basketball For Good project. Youth Leaders also had the opportunity to stage a Festival, delivering Basketball For Good games to over 140 children. The workshop was followed by online mentoring delivered over three months and supported by previous participants of the Youth Leadership program.

SPOTLIGHT

Botswana's Goaba 'Gigi' Monageng attended the Youth Leadership workshop in Namibia, where she found the practical focus on project delivery to be a real asset. 'The budgeting portion of the workshop really stood out for me and opened my outlook on strategically running my project better'. Returning to her community Gigi is delivering her Diamonds in the Rough project to children who do not have any safely run, or consistent in-school and after-school programs. To bridge this inequality gap, her aim is to create a basketball school to create socially aware, and healthy young people.

YOUTH LEADERSHIP

AMERICAS

WORKSHOP: SAN JUAN, PUERTO RICO 13 YOUTH LEADERS FROM 13 COUNTRIES

Youth Leaders embarked upon their transformative training with two tip off sessions covering topics such as volunteering, event management, and project development. This was followed by a two day workshop in November 2023, hosted by the YMCA. Sessions focused on project development and planning, leadership, sustainable development, and the cultural heritage of basketball in San Juan. As a part of their practical training, the Youth Leaders facilitated a basketball clinic for children with disabilities and from disadvantaged backgrounds, visited the Boys and Girls Club of Puerto Rico, and acted as volunteers at the FIBA 3x3 AmeriCup in San Juan. Follow up mentoring has been dedicated to further developing the Basketball For Good Movement within their respective communities.

// I'm really proud to be part of the FIBA Foundation Youth Leadership program. We got to develop valuable skills and frameworks to impact our communities through basketball. I am very grateful that I got to connect and learn with amazing mentors and fellow leaders.

Adán Escobar, El Salvador

YOUTH LEADERSHIP

EUROPE

WORKSHOP: PATRICK BAUMANN HOUSE OF BASKETBALL, MIES, SWITZERLAND 17 YOUTH LEADERS FROM 14 COUNTRIES

Following four tip off sessions the 17 Youth Leaders came together to take part in a three day workshop. Sessions included the use of basketball to create positive impact within communities, the culture and history of the game, behind the scenes insight at the governing body of basketball, and sustainability and climate action. As part of this the Leaders were introduced to the Basketball for Good Cup, a competitive online tournament initiative created by Planet League to engage the Leaders and their communities in environmentally conscious activities.

Youth Leaders were then able to gain practical experience as volunteers and coordinators during the FIBA Open 2023. Follow up mentoring and project development has been focused on helping participants build their own Basketball For Good projects, incorporating the Basketball For Good Cup to create social/environmental impact at the FIBA European Youth Championships 2023 within their own countries.

A STORY OF YOUTH LEADERSHIP IN ACTION 2 YEARS ON

Zacharias Stagakis represents a remarkable transformation story of a casual fan turned 'Basketball For Good' change-maker, all made possible through his participation in FIBA Foundation's Youth Leadership Program. Growing up in Crete, Zacharias's love for the basketball was triggered by Greece's victory at EuroBasket 2005. Starting as a volunteer organizing local, national and international tournaments, Zacharias's contributions were recognized, and he was nominated as a FIBA Youth Leader in 2021. The exposure gave him the knowledge and confidence to launch his career with the Hellenic Basketball Federation (HBF). Beginning as an intern, Zacharias has been promoted to head the Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) department of HBF. A remarkable 35 CSR actions have now been initiated by HBF, including the "Check your Balls" testicular cancer awareness campaign, breast cancer prevention efforts, and steps towards ending gender-based violence and animal abuse.

YOUTH LEADERSHIP

OCEANIA

WORKSHOP: AUCKLAND, NEW ZEALAND 16 YOUTH LEADERS FROM 10 COUNTRIES

Across four online workshops and a three day workshop, Youth Leaders came together to learn a range of topics from teamwork, communication skills, goal setting and program delivery, to diversity and inclusion, ethical leadership and community engagement. There were also discussions and considerations on the methods of delivering the Hoops for Health program, aimed at addressing prevalent non-communicable diseases in Pacific island countries. Participants heard from those already implementing projects and took ideas and different perspectives back to their communities, where they have been mentored to deliver their own Basketball for Good projects.

SPOTLIGHT

Papua New Guinea's Jordan Sere is a shining example of a proactive FIBA Foundation Youth Leader. The 29 year old is currently working as a Hoops For Health coordinator for PNG's National Basketball Federation, seeking to raise awareness of non-communicable diseases among children through innovative basketball drills. He runs basketball clinics across the country and the Youth Leaders program has helped him to develop as a leader and a teacher. As part of the alumni network, Jordan has also had the chance to attend the FIBA Plus workshops in Australia, where he learned managerial techniques around how to run associations, clubs, and federations.

YOUTH LEADERSHIP

FIBA BASKETBALL WORLD CUP 2023

Workshop: Manila, Philippines
14 Youth Leaders from 3 countries

Sustainability was the theme of the World Cup 2023, and the Youth Leaders drawn from the three host countries - Japan, Indonesia and the Philippines - were engaged in disseminating this crucial message.

Following two virtual tip off sessions, the Leaders came together for a three day workshop to be introduced to the Mascot Education Program (MEP), learning how to use the World Cup mascot 'JIP' to deliver play-based basketball activities that teach the benefits of recycling. As well as creating MEP action plans for their own countries, the Leaders had the opportunity to deliver the activities to children during the World Cup Draw Festival and to attend the Revamp My Court activity as a practical example of Basketball For Good.

Monthly mentoring was then provided to support the Youth Leaders in delivering school visits and on-site activations to promote recycling in their own host countries, in collaboration with their Local Organizing Committees. These initiatives will become sustainable Basketball For Good projects to ensure a long-term impact and leave a lasting legacy for future generations of the World Cup hosts' local communities.

MINI BASKETBALL

Mini Basketball is an inclusive grassroots basketball movement aimed at 5-12 year olds, encouraging boys and girls to play together using fun and game based learning.

The initiative is designed to grow the basketball community, while encouraging healthier lifestyles and promoting Basketball For Good values linked to the UN SDGs. Each year the FIBA Foundation organizes a series of regionally focused Mini Basketball Conventions, equipping delegates from national federations, clubs, and partners with the tools to help expand the Mini Basketball movement globally.

OUR IMPACT PATHWAY

IT IS ALL ABOUT CREATING COMMUNITY, SHARING BEST PRACTICE, BUILDING BRIDGES AND WORKING TOGETHER IN REGIONS ACROSS THE WORLD. BY PLANTING THIS SEED IN YOUNG KIDS, WE CAN CREATE LIFELONG CITIZENS OF BASKETBALL AND IMPACT MANY LIVES THANKS TO ITS VALUES ON AND OFF THE COURT.

MINI BASKETBALL

The Mini Basketball movement experienced remarkable growth in 2023, continuing to expand in popularity around the world and creating new and future citizens of basketball.

EUROPEAN MINI BASKETBALL CONVENTION

Location: Alcobendas, Spain
Date: June 9-12
Number of Mini BB delegates: 31
Number of participating children: 1,040

The European Mini Basketball Convention saw 31 participants awarded their FIBA Europe Mini Basketball Coaching Course certificate in the culmination of a two-year program, with theoretical and practical sessions delivered virtually and in person. To bring the Convention to a close a 'Day of Mini Basketball' was hosted by the Basketball Federation of Madrid, bringing together 1,040 young people to experience the joy of physical activity, while learning about social issues relevant to their communities.

AFRICAN MINI BASKETBALL CONVENTION

Location: Dar es Salaam, Tanzania
Date: November 23-25
Number of Mini BB delegates: 16
Number of participating children: 250

The African Mini Basketball Convention equipped delegates from 16 countries with the tools to further develop Mini Basketball in their countries. In addition, 50 local coaches took part in a workshop mixing practical and theoretical sessions to learn how to better engage with young people. Together the delegates and coaches delivered a memorable three days of basketball to 250 children.

AMERICAS' MINI BASKETBALL CONVENTION

Location: León, Mexico
Date: November 1-5
Number of Mini BB delegates: 18
Number of participating children: 3,500

The Americas' Mini Basketball Convention program included theoretical and practical sessions, plus interactive workshops, and ended with delegates developing their Mini Basketball plan for 2024.

Throughout the weekend, 3,500 children from across Mexico also participated in a Mini Basketball festival, contributing to the continuing work to promote well-being and healthy lifestyles. Coaches of teams participating in the festival, as well as parents of the players, additionally took part in a Congress where they were educated on their role in keeping children in sport and FIBA Foundation's Mini Basketball philosophy.

It was a celebration for children where they competed in a healthy and positive environment, improving the health of our youth and strengthening the prevention of childhood obesity through basketball. The Mexican National Federation will continue to be committed to promoting these events...for the benefit of the children and youth of our country.

Dr Modesto Robledo, President of COCABA and ADEMEBA.

MINI BASKETBALL

A STORY OF IMPACT - 2 YEARS ON

YENNY PINILLA, COLOMBIA

Pinilla is a former national team star in Colombia who now coaches at many different levels. After attending a Mini Basket convention in Argentina two years ago, Pinilla made a proposal to FIBA to launch her program "Mini Basket a Domicilio" in her native country. The program now provides a safe space to play basketball, coaching and resources to more than 50 children, with a vision of impacting closer to 500 youth players by the time it reaches its full potential. Pinilla says the project is "all about educating, empowering, inspiring and supporting others," while providing a safe environment for Colombian youth living in at-risk areas.

"Mini Basketball provides us with tools for social development and learning, promoting a culture of citizenship day-by-day. Let's continue to impact our boys and girls with love, and we will have extraordinary citizens of the world."

COMMUNITY IMPACT

The Community Impact program sees tailored initiatives being implemented in individual countries, addressing social issues relevant to those communities.

HOOPS FOR HEALTH

Using basketball as a vehicle to raise awareness around combatting non-communicable diseases in the Seychelles.

PROPOSE A PROJECT

Providing financial, equipment, and/or mentoring support to grassroots projects using basketball as a tool for positive change in their community.

FIBA OPEN

Engaging the European basketball community, and demonstrating Basketball For Good in action through a festival at the FIBA headquarters.

OUR IMPACT PATHWAY

Youth Leaders/educators understand Basketball For Good, their role in delivery and the social issue the program is addressing.

Beneficiaries and local communities develop basketball skills, have increased awareness of Basketball For Good and social issues, and have access to educational or development opportunities.

Youth Leaders/educators are empowered to use Basketball For Good to tackle issues in their own communities.

Beneficiaries and local communities build social-emotional skills and friendships. They have increased knowledge and skills on the importance of basketball and social values and put into practice what they have learned as part of community programs.

Youth Leaders/educators continue to run Basketball For Good activities and work with local stakeholders.

More people are involved in basketball for good activities in their local communities. Programs address community social or environmental priorities and there is an improvement in overall well-being.

Basketball For Good is an efficient and impactful tool contributing to the UN SDGs.

Communities are transformed and their citizens are healthier.

“ Speaking for all PE teachers, I would like to thank the FIBA Foundation for coming to our country and teaching us about Basketball For Good to improve the health and wellbeing of our students and all Seychellois youth. ”

SEYCHELLES HOOPS FOR HEALTH

SUPPORTED BY بنك السلام
Al Salam Bank

2023 saw the successful delivery of the second of three years of the Hoops for Health program in the Seychelles.

Hoops for Health is an innovative project to train school PE teachers in using basketball as a vehicle to raise awareness around combatting non-communicable diseases (NCDs) which account for 79% of all deaths in the Seychelles.

After being initially focused on participants from the capital Mahé in 2022, in 2023 the Community Impact project expanded to also target beneficiaries from two other islands - Praslin and La Digue.

I am really impressed with the level of participation...As we have a big problem of obesity here in the Seychelles, we need to have more similar initiatives to get kids into sports. If this program gets a permanent place in the school's curriculum it will open up the doors for so many opportunities.

George Madeleine, Head of Health Promotion, Seychelles Ministry of Health

All ages engaged, from 3 to 40+ years

FIBA Open was a great way to bring people together through basketball and celebrate the sport on a global scale... I also appreciated the emphasis on promoting diversity and inclusion in the sport, and the efforts to create opportunities for players who may not have had access to traditional basketball programs.

LOOKING FORWARD

After our most impactful year yet our ambition is to go even further in 2024. We will enhance our programs, increase the number of beneficiaries, and equip even more young people and communities with the opportunity, knowledge, and confidence to embrace the power of basketball.

OUR 2024 OBJECTIVES

YOUTH LEADERSHIP

- Continue to grow the Youth Leader network across all 5 continents
- Increased provision of mentoring to keep Youth Leaders connected and supported and further embed impact in communities
- Increased support of Youth Leaders and their Basketball For Good programs through Propose a Project

YOUTH LEADERSHIP

MINI BASKETBALL

- Convene the basketball community and continue to build the Mini Basketball movement across all 5 continents
- Provision of tailor made mentoring and support for each region, working with the respective National Federations
- Increased support around onsite implementation, to amplify impact of in person education provided in 2023

MINI BASKETBALL

COMMUNITY IMPACT

- Community Impact delivered through our 3 ongoing projects, with ambitious plans for growth and impact at the local level
- Double the investment into Propose a Project, and double the impact
- In the last year of the Hoops for Health program, a legacy will be achieved through the renovation of a community basketball court in Mahé, and further engagement of national organizations to ensure momentum beyond 2024

COMMUNITY IMPACT

JOIN OUR MISSION

JOIN OUR MISSION

In basketball we have a powerful tool to promote education, health and well-being, and to fight injustice and inequality in communities across the world. But we can only achieve our goals for 2024 and beyond with the support of those who share our belief in the transformative power of our beautiful game.

BECOME A PARTNER

As a corporate partner, or technical supplier, you can help us expand our reach even further and positively impact young people throughout the world. And our robust measurement, evaluation and reporting means that you can proudly share the impact of your support with the wider world.

We can work together to create a bespoke partnership – focusing on a particular project, theme or region that is dear to your heart, or contributing across the full spectrum of projects.

By supporting our mission our Partners:

- Contribute to the UN Sustainable Development Goals, in particular Good Health and well-being, Quality Education, Gender Equality and Reduced Inequalities
- Align with a global game, which has deep reach into communities across every continent
- Gain presence and visibility during corporate international basketball events
- Are thanked and profiled across the FIBA Foundation branding and communications
- Gain access to the Basketball for Good Inner Circle, with opportunities to visit projects, attend our Gala Dinner, and FIBA events such as the World Cup and the Hall of Fame

DONATE

We welcome one off and monthly donations, as well as equipment that we can distribute to our Basketball for Good programs. Find out how you can support here.
